

FAASTeam presents:

All About Tailwheel and Aerobatics

Are you intrigued by tailwheel aircraft? Mesmerized by amazing aerobatics? Join us to learn how flying tailwheel aircraft can help improve your flying skills while adding a whole lot of fun to your future flights.

Presenter Nick Slabakov is a tailwheel and aerobatics flight instructor at Aspen Flying Club. He will talk about what it takes to transition to tailwheel aircraft. He will cover proper ground handling techniques, how understanding torque and center of gravity become even more critical in tailwheel take-offs and landings, and how tailwheel flying skills transfer to tricycle gear flying.

Nick will also talk about flying aerobatics and getting started in the competitive aerobatics circuit. Did you know you can get started learning aerobatics at Aspen Flying Club? It's true! Aspen is proud to be one of the only clubs in the state to allow solo tailwheel and aerobatics flights by qualified pilots.

Join us to learn what it takes to transition from tricycle gear to tailwheel aircraft, as well as how to get started flying inverted, hammerheads, and more!

Pilots of all experience levels are encouraged to attend.
